INTRODUCTION

Bainbridge Island is a community of about 20,000 residents as of 2002, and has approximately 53 miles of shoreline defining its boundary. Given that the vast majority of the Island’s shoreline is privately owned, access to the shoreline by the public is very important and Bainbridge Island is fortunate to have parks, road-ends and other types of sites that provide public access to our shore. Experiencing the shoreline reinforces our identity as an island community, and provides a glimpse of the ecological and geological processes that make this place unique. Shoreline access is also an essential means of recreation on Bainbridge, allowing passive and active endeavors such as kayaking, walking, picnicking, and wildlife watching.

Like streams and wetlands, shorelines are fragile and dynamic. The interface between the marine environment and the upland environment is sensitive, naturally changes with the seasons, and is home to a great diversity of creatures, so it is important to tread lightly. Accessing the shoreline for recreation, relaxation, and education also must not compromise the privacy, safety, and quality of life for adjacent residents.

The sites described in this guidebook are diverse in size, surroundings, ownership, and historic use; therefore, the recommended uses depend on the individual site. There are four sections in this book that help to categorize the different types of access: parks, road-ends, shore-view roads, and other access. Parks are typically owned and managed by the Bainbridge Island Parks and Recreation District or Washington State Parks. Road-Ends are typically narrow rights-of-way that are owned and managed by the City of Bainbridge Island while in some cases road-ends are easements across private property that provide public access. These narrow rights-of-way and easements extend across the tidelands down to the water - users should be aware and respect that most tidelands on either side of these sites are privately owned. Since road-ends are small, narrow sites surrounded by private residential properties, users should conduct their activities respectful of the constraints inherent to that setting (rules and recommended uses are discussed further below). The City works to maintain access, safety, and signage at road-ends, but oftentimes neighborhood groups, Boy Scouts, or other community members provide significant improvement and maintenance to these sites. Bainbridge Island’s shorelines can also be enjoyed from the many Shore-view roads. These are paved public roadways that offer scenic shoreline views and opportunities for driving, walking, biking, and wildlife viewing. The fourth section, Other Access, lists private parcels that allow public access and typically are parcels with land trust easements or open space taxation status (these parcels get tax breaks for preserving open space). Visits to most of these sites must be prearranged.

Look for the blue Public Shore Access signs, and enjoy with care!

Notes to Boaters

Kayaking is a popular activity in the waters surrounding Bainbridge, and many of the sites in this guidebook offer excellent landing/launching areas for human-powered craft. Many of the harbors of Bainbridge Island are excellent for mooring deep-keeled boats. Washington State Parks offer buoys at Fay Bainbridge and Fort Ward. The City of Bainbridge Island has guest moorage and day-use at the city dock in Eagle Harbor. Many of the Island’s other harbors provide good anchorage and nearby road-ends provide a place to pull a dingy ashore. See the Index for a listing of places for deep-keeled boats to moor or anchor, and the corresponding road-ends that offer shore access. Power and sail boaters should be aware that there are no fuel docks on the Island. There is a public pump-out station and a day-use dock available at the Waterfront Park in Eagle Harbor.

RECOMMENDED USES

The sites included in this guidebook is appropriate for various types of use because of size, community setting, or legal agreement. Each site is categorized as one of the following three types of uses. Additional site-specific information is provided in the guidebook for each site.

Neighborhood Use: These sites are typically small narrow road-ends tucked into residential neighborhoods and do not accommodate large groups or high-intensity use. Parking is often limited or non-existent at these sites. While anyone is welcome to enjoy all of the sites listed in this book, the designation of Neighborhood Use is meant to encourage smaller groups and minimal disruption to the site and the neighbors.

Island-Wide Use: This designation is used for most Bainbridge Island Parks and all Washington State Parks. The parking accommodations and maintenance plans at these sites are designed for broad public use, and a higher volume of visitors.

Access with Permission Only: These sites provide public access on a limited, permission-only basis and some sites may allow access for only certain types of activities (e.g. education groups). The Bainbridge Island Land Trust owns or holds conservation easements on some of these parcels while others are enrolled in the open space taxation program managed by the Kitsap County Assessor’s Office. Please contact property owners 24 hours in advance of your planned visit.

ROAD-END RULES

The City of Bainbridge Island has established general rules that apply to all of the Island’s Road-Ends. Please respect these rules as they are designed for safety, cleanliness, and to respect the neighborhoods surrounding these sites. Wildlife, plants, buildings, signs, tables, and other structures are protected; removal or damage of any kind is prohibited.

- Hours: dawn to dusk
- No fires
- Remove trash and clean up pet waste
- Animals must be kept on leash
- No camping
- No overnight parking

BLAKELY HARBOR PARK  ISLAND-WIDE USE

USES & AMENITIES:
Scenic views (Blakely Harbor), wildlife watching, kayaking, dingy landing, picnicking.

SITE DESCRIPTION:
21-acre park at the head of Blakely Harbor. A constructed jetty from the north and south sides of the harbor separates the main outer harbor, from the inner “log-pond”. The outer harbor beach is gravelly and steep in places. In the western, inner portion of the harbor, the beach is muddy and should not be disturbed. Principle access to the park is from 3-T road. See the interpretive sign near the eastern entrance. The park contains many wetlands, please do not disturb these sensitive features.

BACKGROUND/ HISTORICAL INFORMATION/ FUTURE OUTLOOK:
Acquired by Bainbridge Island Parks and Recreation through an option from Bainbridge Island Land Trust, State grants, and donations from over 300 citizens. In the 1880s, Port Blakely was the site of one of the world’s largest sawmills, as well as the original Halls Brothers shipyard. The mill burned in 1907, and later rebuilt to only burn down again in the 1920’s. The harbor was once the most industrial in Puget Sound and now it has reverted over time to one of the least developed harbors in Central Puget Sound. The park is intended to be developed as a passive recreation area.

MAP & DIRECTIONS:
47°35.85’ N  122°31.08’ W
Refer to South Bainbridge Area map.

20 cars

SITE DESCRIPTION:
Heavily wooded ravine with trail following stream down to the beach. Gradually sloping, sandy/muddy beach, especially near trail. Somewhat protected cove, with alot of overhanging vegetation. Please respect the stream and stream mouth area by minimizing erosion.

BACKGROUND/ HISTORICAL INFORMATION:
Historic site of Steamer Dock ‘Venice’ (1908-1933). Improved by scouts and neighborhood residents. Managed by the Bainbridge Island Park and Recreation District.

MAP & DIRECTIONS:
47°40.26’ N   122°34.71’ W
Refer to Central Bainbridge Area map.

FAY BAINBRIDGE STATE PARK  ISLAND-WIDE USE

USES & AMENITIES: For more information see www.parks.wa.gov .
Scenic views (shipping lanes, Cascade Mountains, Mt. Rainier, Mt. Baker), wildlife watching, kayaking, mooring buoys (3), camping, walking.

SITE DESCRIPTION:
Sand/gravel beach with driftwood, moderately steep to sandflat at low tide. Park entrance is in the trees, leading down a steep hill. Parking area is near the beach. Park is 17-acres with 1,420 feet of waterfront. Sandy volleyball courts, big toy, camp sites with potable water taps, and mooring buoy provide plenty of recreational opportunities. Also, 2 kitchen shelters with electricity are available, as well as 11 sheltered and 80 unsheltered picnic tables. One shelter is available by reservation. Phone the park at (206) 842-3931. Park hours are 8am to dusk year-round for day-use. Camping is closed from the end of September to mid-April.

BACKGROUND/HISTORICAL INFORMATION:
Old boat launch no longer functional.

MAP & DIRECTIONS:
47°42.24'N 122°30.54'W

Refer to North Bainbridge Area map.

From Hwy 305, head east at on Day Rd and proceed to T-intersection. Turn left onto Sunrise Drive, and continue approximately 2-miles to park entrance on the right side.
USES & AMENITIES: For more information see www.parks.wa.gov. Scenic views (Olympic Mountains, Orchard Rocks, Blake Island, ferry route, Rich Passage), wildlife watching, boat launching, mooring buoys (2), kayaking, picnicking, walking, biking. The park has one water trails campsite available only to those arriving by human-powered watercraft.

SITE DESCRIPTION:
Fort Ward State Park is 137-acres with 4,300 feet of shoreline. The smooth gravel/cobble beach along Rich Passage is gradually sloped and easily accessed via the boat ramp or picnic sites. The proximity of a large fish pen operation to Orchard Rocks attracts seals and sea lions. The park includes about ¾ mile of flat, paved road closed to vehicles, several trails, and many shore side picnic areas. The boat ramp is heavily used in the summer months. Park is open 8am to dusk year-round, except upper day-use area is closed mid-October to mid-April. Visitors can extend their shore-view walks and bicycle rides south beyond the park along South Beach Drive.

BACKGROUND/HISTORICAL INFORMATION:
In 1903, Fort Ward was commissioned as a seacoast fort with the primary objective of protecting the Bremerton Naval Shipyard. Two gun batteries are located in the park. During World War II, the navy used the fort as a radio station and training school for communication personnel and installed a submarine net across Rich Passage. In 1958, the navy decommissioned the fort, and Washington State Parks purchased Fort Ward in 1960.

MAP & DIRECTIONS:
47°35.39’N 122°31.86’W
